

LILLY SMITH

APPLICATION INTEREST

To obtain the JD degree from the University in order to acquire knowledge and skills required to establish a career as a lawyer for international organizations

EDUCATION

Christmas Island University of Political Science and Law

Bachelor of Arts in English

September 2010– Present

- GPA: 85.5/100, 3.82/6.0
- Audited the following courses: Property Law, Criminal Law, and Roman Law
- Research Interest:

University of Christmas Island

Exchange Student (Law Path)

July 2012–August 2012

- Enrolled in the following courses: The History of English Common Law, , European Law, Company Law, and Introduction to the UN Human Rights Act
- Participated in the mooted competition (semi-finalist)

Exchange Student, Christmas Island University

Month Year– Month Year

- Studied the courses American Literature, English Literature, Advanced English, Advanced English Writing, and Chinese-English Translation

EXPERIENCE

Legal Department, CI Company

Intern

July 2013–September 2013

- Translated legal documents
- Drafted contracts

Criminal Procedure Law Seminar, CI University's U.S.-Asia Law

Participant

2011 and 2013

- Provided assistance to foreign guests
- Participated in the discussions

EXTRACURRICULAR AND SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

School Union and the Youth Volunteering Association

Member

Month Year– Present

- Organized and implemented activities such as the CI Evening Party

SCHOLARSHIP

- Third-class Scholarship, Christmas Island University of Political Science and Law

PROFICIENCIES

- Standard Test: TOEFL – 102; taken October 2012
- Computers: Microsoft Office
- HOBBIES
- Music, literature, jogging, and climbing

International & Comparative Law

The law school offers a robust and exciting International & Comparative Law Program, complete with specialized degree programs, course offerings, activities, student opportunities and more. Outstanding faculty members with expertise in key areas of international and comparative law teach and advise students:

Curriculum

Offers a range of courses that fit into three related "tracks" or disciplines: (1) public international law, (2) private international business law, and (3) comparative law:

- Public International Law
- International Commerce and Investment
- International Trade Regulation
- International Economic Law and Development
- Comparative Law
- International Human Rights

As you consider your extracurricular opportunities, remember these four guidelines:

Quality not quantity: The depth of your involvement is much more important than the number of activities in which you are involved. You should first explore all of the options available to you such as affinity clubs, intramural sports, and community service organizations. Then, after sampling some of them, commit to the two or three that resonate most with you.

The applications often ask you to specify how many hours you spent on each activity per week; so if the admissions committees see that you were spread too thin, they might believe you could not have really impacted any of these groups. By picking a few activities about which you are truly passionate and dedicating yourself fully, your contribution to the community will be readily apparent.